THE PRESS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CAMBRIDGE (ENGLAND) OFFERS THE ENTIRELY NEW ENCYCLOPAEDIA BRITANNICA AT A MINIMUM PRICE TO THOSE WHO POST THE ORDER FORM TO-DAY.

To-day and to-morrow are the last days for sending your order for the new Encyclopaedia Britannica, if you wish to secure the minimum prices shown on the order form below. At midnight to-morrow these prices will be permanently increased. Orders posted to-day or to-morrow, however, will be accepted at the present prices, for the sake of distant readers. Make sure of not being too late by posting your order to-day, when a single guinea will bring you the complete new Encyclopaedia Britannica in 29 volumes.

This drawing (from a photograph) shows the new Encyclopaedia Britannica, printed on India paper, in process of use. The bookcase illustrated holds the 29 volumes in a single row of only 20 inches, and each volume can be doubled back and held easily in one hand for convenience of reading. For prices see below.

The Press of the University of Cambridge (England) warns Australian readers that the minimum prices are available only for orders posted to-day and to-morrow. Those who wish to make a Christmas present of the new Encyclopaedia Britannica, or to have delivery deferred till after the holidays, may send instructions for delivery at any convenient time, along with their orders. But, though delivery and further payments may be deferred, the order (with one guinea) must be posted now in order to secure the minimum prices.

READING FOR A LIFETIME

In the new Encyclopaedia Britannica the English University of Cambridge provides you and your family with reading for a lifetime. Some suggested courses of reading are indicated below. Thus to follow one subject in all its ramifications provides an educational task of great interest and value for young and old; and every subject that can attract you is at your disposal.

Preparation for Efficient Citizenship.

High instincts and noble intentions do not of themselves make efficient citizens. Something more is needed—accurate knowledge. Nowhere more than in the realm of politics and foreign relations are facts and principles currently accepted and rejected with less scrutiny of their foundations. In the new Encyclopaedia Britannica the articles which touch on foreign relations are written from a comparative viewpoint and offer endless possibilities of profit to the student of affairs, to the writer and to the intelligent layman. The question of national defence, which has of late years grown so important to the student of affairs, can nowhere be studied as fully and advantageously as in the pages of the new Britannica, where a number of the highest naval and military experts of the day explain the organization of fleets and armies, the evolution of battle-ships and their ordnance, the problems of coast defence, and which are answered by the campaigns of history, from Alexander and Caesar to Napoleon, Moltke, and Togo. As regards domestic problems, it has been well said by a leading publicist that no aspirant to public life in either hemisphere can consider himself adequately equipped without the aid of the new Britannica, a veritable treasury of information on all constitutional, economic, and social questions.

The following are a few of the hundreds of subjects that might be included in this course:

Contemporary History	Anarchism, Communism	Public Debts
International Relations	Suffrage	Money
Navies and Armies	Diplomacy	Railroads and Canals
Tariffs, Labour Legislation	Political Economy	Charities
Education, Crime	Trade Unions	Taxation
Trusts, Socialism	Currency	Strikes

Literature and the Arts

A course of reading under this general heading would have for its object the development of the critical faculties and the faculties of intellectual and artistic interest and appreciation. In this direction the 11th Edition is beyond question the most authoritative of guides. Every division of the subject is covered in a series of exhaustive articles, each by an acknowledged authority, constituting collectively a contribution which alone will make the new edition notable among works of its kind.

This course would include a study of the many hundreds of articles on the world's

Musical	Literary Biographies	Drama
Painting	Literary Forms	Opera
Sculpture	National Literatures	Legends
Architecture	Poetry	Folk Lore

Religion, Ethics, and Philosophy

There is no more interesting reading for broad minds than the study of what men of all times and countries have thought and believed. The Britannica has always been celebrated for its articles on Religion. Those in the new edition contain the latest results of research and constitute an unparalleled body of religious exposition and interpretation.

In this course would come

Biblical Criticism (844 articles)	Pagan Religions
History of Christianity (1,773 articles)	Theology and Philosophy (1,614 articles)
Comparative Religions (855 articles)	Apogetics
Churches, Propaganda	Hagiology

"Our aim and object has been to look at truth objectively, to face the religions of the world as they are; not as we or others think they ought to be; to present not only what we believe, but what everybody believes. Somewhere is the white light of truth; this light, passing through the prism of many minds, breaks into a thousand varying colours which it has been our purpose to reflect. You may say that the book is parti-coloured. You cannot say it is partisan."—W. ALBION PHILLIPS, Editor of the Religious Section of the 11th Edition.

Home and Foreign Travel

This course would consist of articles or parts of articles which would help the reader to lay out tours combining with recreation some plan of special observation—historical, geological, agricultural, industrial or artistic. All these features of every country in the world are amply described in the new Britannica.

Natural History

There are no less than 950 articles (including biographies) on Botany alone in the new Britannica, and the Zoological section is equally full. The following subjects are suggested for a course of reading:

Botany, Plants	Fishes, Insects	Mendelian
Arbiculture	Bacteriology	Distribution
Mammals	Biogeography	Comparative Anatomy
Reptiles, Birds	Evolution	See

Exploration and Adventure

This course would take up the fascinating study of the world's great explorations and the bolder forms of commercial adventure, the harder callings and forms of sport, and the opening up of new territory. It would include:

Lives of Explorers	Flight	Whaling
Panama Voyages	Submarines	Prospecting
First Discoveries	Pearl-Diving	Lighthouse-Building
Mountaineering	Orchid-Hunting	Colonization
Aeronautics	Big-Game Shooting	Chartered Companies

The Treasures of the Earth

The exploration of the earth's crust, in search of metals and minerals, as well as of scientific knowledge, is fully described by acknowledged experts in the new Britannica. Geologists and practical mining engineers co-operate in explaining methods and conditions of mining in all countries, and the course of reading in this subject would include thousands of articles, such as:

Geology (500 articles)	Mining	Metallurgy
Mineralogy	Shaft-sinking	Ore-dressing
Mineral Deposits	Blasting	Iron and Steel
Gold, Coal	Explosives	Copper, Tin

Reading for the Householder

There are hundreds of up-to-date articles in the new Britannica which will be found of the greatest practical use to those who have undertaken or are about to undertake the management of an independent home, such as those on:

Building	Carpentry	Insurance
Ventilation	Lighting	Adulteration
Heating	Medicine	Master and Servant
Furniture	Hygiene	Landlord and Tenant
	Rest	Fire-Prevention

Reading for the Country House

Country life, in all its aspects of work and play, is fully dealt with in the new Britannica in articles on every conceivable subject connected with it, such as:

Agriculture	Drainage, Irrigation
Horticulture	Fishing, Shooting
Forestry	Hunting, Sailing
Fruit and Flowers	Indoor Games
Poultry, Cattle	Country Houses

Beautifying the Home

Most women have a natural faculty for domestic decoration, but the instinct needs to be supplemented by study. The following are suggestions for a course of reading in the new Britannica in this relation:

Decorations	Ceramics	Etching, Prints
Old Furniture	Painter-Work	Silverware
China, Glass	Embroideries, Lace	Indoor Plants
Wood Carving	Rugs, Tapestries	Plaster-Work

Indoor and Outdoor Amusements

Every known game, indoor as well as outdoor, ancient and modern, is described in the new Britannica. Here is a rich resource for the days or nights when outdoor amusement has to be forgone. There are in the work no less than 257 articles on Sports and Games. Only a few can be noted here:

Backgammon	Children's Games	Gymnastics, Hockey
Billiards, Pool	Cock-Fighting	Riding, Tobogganing
Boxing, Chess	Dancing	Skittles
Cane-Fencing	Dominoes	Yachting
Cards (Every Game)	Drumming	Tennis, Polo
Charades	Fencing, Folia, Golf	Racquets

Amateur Mechanics

A course of reading in Amateur Mechanics would cover such a knowledge of machinery and processes as may be desired by those not actually engaged in mechanical work, but with a bent for and an interest in it. It would include:

Motor Cars	Lighting-Plants	Typewriters
Steam Boats	Pumps	Sewing-Machines
Steam Engines	Turbines	Heating-Apparatus
Oil Engines	Plumbing	Gum-making
Telephones	Cameras	Wireless Telegraphy

The Study of Character and Achievement

Where, better than in the 9,000 biographies of both dead and living celebrities in the new Britannica, could one become acquainted with the lives and characters of the world's great men and women? And what absorbing accounts these biographies contain of human energy, perseverance, heroism, philanthropy, piety, self-denial, patriotism and creative power. A course of biographical reading in the new Britannica would be selected from the lives of:

Nation-Builders	Inventors	Dramatists
Founders of Religions	Chemists	Historians
Founders of Philosophies	Biologists	Painters
Makers of Navies	Physiologists	Sculptors
Makers of Armies	Anatomists	Architects
Industrial Pioneers	Physicians	Composers
Financial Pioneers	Colonizers	Jurists
Mercantile Pioneers	Explorers	Educationalists
Engineering Pioneers	Makers of Cities	Economists
	Poets, Novelists	Sociologists

A Course in Ethnology

This course would take up the study of little known races and peoples, their history, traditions, customs, and racial traits. It would include:

Malays, Tibetans	Polynesians	African Races
Alans, Dyaks	Mauris, Arabs	Indian Tribes
Esquimaux	Australian Aborigines	Papuans

Wholesome Reading for the Young

This would be a course designed to illustrate Romance and Drama in the Field of Facts. It might be divided as follows:

- (1) Marvels of Nature: Volcanoes, Earthquakes, Storms, Waterfalls, Avalanches, Rapids, Snow, Floods, Lightning, Glaciers, Caves.
- (2) Beasts, Birds, Fishes and Insects: Communications, Wars, Structural Work, Migration, Spreading Disease Among Man and Beast, Destroying Crops, Substitutes for Speech, Natural Weapons, Defensive Coloration, Darts, Powers Acquired in Domestication, Speed.
- (3) Machines of Power and Delicacy: Looms, Steel-Making Plants, Pneumatic Tools, Calculating Machines, Microscopes, Syrens, Printing Press, Hydraulic Press.
- (4) The Infinitesimal World: Bacterial Life, Microscopic Revolutions.
- (5) Dramatic Episodes of History.
- (6) Men's Furthest Journeys: Polar Voyages, Highest and Longest Railway Journeys, Desert Wrecks, Treks Still Unexplored, Uninhabited Lands.
- (7) Remodelling the Earth's Surface: Dams, River Deflections, Ship Canals, Tunnels, Brigades, Artificial Harbours.

This order form is valid only if posted to-day or to-morrow. The prices will then be increased.

LAW REPORT.

THE HIGH COURT.

(Before Sir Samuel Griffith, Chief Justice, and Justices Barton and O'Connor.)

GARNETT v. LESTRANGE.

Mr. Russell and Mr. Nicholas, instructed by Mr. Evans and Mr. Sullivan, appeared for the plaintiff, Isabella Garnett, widow of the late Joseph Garnett; Mr. Mann and Mr. Bernal, instructed by Mr. Bowman and Mr. Mackenzie, appeared for the defendant, Guy Stuart Lestrangle, executor of the will of the late Joseph Garnett.

This was an appeal from a judgment of the Chief Justice in Equity. Prior to 1900 the plaintiff married the deceased, who then owned 611 acres near Lismore. He desired to take up an A.C.P. of 42 acres, and, according to the plaintiff, she supplied him with the necessary money, on the understanding that he would take it up for her in his name. The land was taken up, and in his name. The husband later died, and in his will left the plaintiff only 11 acres. The wife went to the Equity Court, and sought to have it declared that the executor of the estate was a trustee for her of the A.C.P. or, in the alternative, that there should be a charge upon the A.C.P. for the money expended by her. The Court decided against the plaintiff on the first point, and found for her on the second. She then took the case to the High Court, on the main ground that his Honor should have found that the A.C.P. was her property, subject to a charge in favour of the Bank of New South Wales (mortgagees from Garnett), and that on the facts there was a resulting trust in her favour.

The case stands part heard.

JUDGMENT REVERSED.

ALLEGED WRONGFUL DISMISSAL.

(English and Australian Copper Company, Ltd., v. Johnson.)

Mr. Knox, K.C., and Mr. Windygar, instructed by Messrs. Brown and Mitchell, appeared for the plaintiff, Messrs. Johnson and Newcombe, through Messrs. Makinson and Plunkett; Mr. Viner, K.C., and Mr. Viner, instructed by Messrs. Reid and Reid, of Newcastle, through Mr. T. Johnson, appeared for the defendant, The English and Australian Copper Company, Ltd., in the Supreme Court.

The plaintiff in the original suit, Thomas Johnson, secured a verdict from the Supreme Court, before the Chief Justice and a jury, for £125, on the ground that the defendant, the English and Australian Copper Company, Ltd., was liable for the loss of his position as manager of the company's smelting works at Warialda, near Newcastle, and the alleged misconduct for which the company dismissed him. The plaintiff was awarded a verdict for £125, and costs, and the defendant was ordered to pay the plaintiff's costs.

The High Court, on appeal, unanimously upheld the appeal, and entered judgment for the company. The Chief Justice said that the jury was not asked to find whether the plaintiff was dismissed, but to find whether the plaintiff was dismissed, and if so, whether the dismissal was wrongful. The question was whether the plaintiff had been dismissed, and whether the dismissal was wrongful. The question was whether the plaintiff had been dismissed, and whether the dismissal was wrongful.

The case stands part heard.

SUPREME COURT.

BANCO COURT.

(Before the Chief Justice and a jury of four.)

ALLEGED MALICIOUS PROSECUTION.

Duffy v. Rabinowitch.

Mr. Duffy, instructed by Mr. W. D. Daley, appeared for the plaintiff; Mr. Moriarty, instructed by Mr. H. E. McIntosh, appeared for the defendant. This was an action brought by Duffy against Rabinowitch to recover compensation for alleged malicious prosecution and false imprisonment. The plaintiff claimed that the defendant had maliciously and without reasonable cause and without probable cause, caused him to be arrested and imprisoned, and to incur expenses and damages.

NO. 3 JURY COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice King and a jury of four.)

ALLEGED TRESPASS.

CLAIM FOR $200.

Mr. Coyne, instructed by Mr. J. Carroll, appeared for the plaintiff, Mr. James; Mr. Boyce, instructed by Mr. H. E. McIntosh, appeared for the defendant, Mr. James.

The plaintiff, a widow, residing at Military Road, Mecklenburg, sued the defendant, for an alleged trespass by entering and breaking into her dwellinghouse, and making a noise and disturbance, whereby plaintiff was injured in her health, and the Court, therefore, awarded her a verdict for $200.

The case stands part heard.

EQUITY COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice A. H. Simpson, Chief Justice in Equity.)

ANDREWS v. FREW AND ANOTHER.

(Before Mr. Acting Justice King.)

THE LATE EARL CARRINGTON'S SYDNEY ESTATE.

PETITION FOR SALE.

Mr. H. E. Manning, instructed by Messrs. Andrews, Messing, and Manning, appeared on behalf of the trustees of the late Earl of Carrington, the Dowager Countess of Carrington, and the Hon. Aubrey Herbert, for the plaintiff, Messrs. Frew and Another.

The defendant, Messrs. Frew and Another, sought a decree for the sale of the property, and the Court, therefore, awarded them a decree for the sale of the property.
